Earning Information

Although Evergreen cannot guarantee employment, graduates who choose to pursue licensure in the field typically have career options in the various related industries. Personal needs and interests drive most decisions regarding the type of environment and the scope of practice graduates pursue.

Methods of compensation vary and may include salary, salary plus commission, commission, sliding scale commission, hourly, retail commission, independent contracting, or booth renting (renting space and equipment from an existing salon). Actual compensation is impacted by a person's willingness or ability to work long hours and do a variety of skills in the field.

Employment and earnings are based on an individual's ability to attain and maintain employment.

The college makes no representation on those expectations.
